ACM ANNOUNCES A NEW ALGORITHMS LOOSE-LEAF SERVICE

COLLECTED ALGORITHMS FROM CACM (a loose-leaf service)

Beginning June 1966, the Association for Computing Machinery inaugurated an Algorithm loose-leaf service with regular supplements to keep the service comprehensive and up-to-date.

FOR THE FIRST TIME

Every Algorithm from 1960 through June 1966, along with every Remark and Certification that has been published, is collected and collated together in one three ring binder as a ready reference manual. Supplementary, collected algorithms, along with newly published Remarks and Certifications, will be sent to subscribers to this service on a bi-monthly basis.

SUBSCRIPTION INCLUDES

Initial three ring binder, all Algorithms, Remarks and Certifications through June 1966 and one year's updating service (beginning June 1966).

* SUBSCRIPTION PRICE

To ACM members and subscribers to
COMMUNICATIONS OF THE ACM _____ *$15.00

To non-ACM members and non-subscribers to
COMMUNICATIONS OF THE ACM _____ $25.00

AIR MAIL Service — optional for overseas subscribers only (in addition to subscription price) _____ $ 8.00

* British Computer Society members may order this service at the $15.00 price by placing their order through the British Computer Society office.

All orders must be prepaid. Checks should be made payable to Collected Algorithms. Send orders and remittance to: Collected Algorithms, c/o ACM, 211 East 43rd Street, New York, N.Y. 10017.
